Responding to the Climate Emergency

Are you looking for techniques and tools to bring people together to explore this critical issue and co-design solutions to the challenges ahead?

“Attending the community meeting was really helpful in hearing directly about the local priorities for tackling the climate emergency.”

Sarah Wollaston, MP for Totnes

Encounters can work with you to create opportunities for people to come together to explore responses to the climate and ecological emergency. We will support you to give your community the confidence to move forward together in the face of this complex challenge.

We can:

- Work with you to reach out to people in your community
- Help your community co-author a Peoples' Climate and Ecological Emergency Plan in a one day event
- Use our hand-crafted mobile learning and gathering space, Chrysalis, to deliver Climate related engagement activities in a range of locations
- Design and deliver a varied programme of engagement

Whilst a longer programme allows for a more in-depth engagement, a one day event is a powerful way to start the process of visioning and change.

The Peoples' Climate and Ecological Emergency Planning Day includes:

- Tried and tested participatory activities to allow individuals to connect with others and strengthen new collective narratives, helping communities realise their agency

- A morning of presentations about the Climate and Ecological Crisis from diverse experts, interspersed with group reflection, generating themes for further exploration e.g. energy, food and local economies
- Facilitated group discussions on the generated themes, resulting in proposals for action
- The collation of proposals into a large-scale Climate and Ecological Emergency Plan 'book' at the end of the day
- Additionally, we can work with you and your stakeholders to develop detailed action plans from the outputs of this event day.

Cost: We can plan a programme of activities to meet your budget requirements.

Encounters is a group of artists, producers, facilitators and change agents. Our mission is to create the conditions for a creative, caring, connected world in which all can learn to flourish, living together within the Earth's ecological limits.
